THE DOG-MUZZLING ORDER

Justice Barnard Upholds the Commissioners' Proclamation.

"By act of Congress approved June 19, 1878, a tax was levied on all dogs in this District and its payment is enforced by seizing dogs found at large without wearing the tax tag. By section 7 of this act, it is made the duty of the Commissioners whenever good reasons appear for believing that any dog or dogs in the District are mad, to issue a proclamation requiring that all dogs shall wear muzzles for a period to be therein defined. The said section then provides that 'any dog going at large during the period defined by the Commissioners without such muzzle shall be taken by the Poundmaster and inapounded subject to the provisious of section 2,' which provides that if dogs impounded are not redeemed within forty-eight hours by payment of $2$, they shall be sold or destroyed."

the law in question was formerly in force as an ordinance of the city of Washington; and was passed by Congress with some slight change in phraseology as a police regulation; and that it was made the duy of the Commissioners to execute it when-ever the emergency contemplated arose; that the emergency has arisen and the law is now operative, not by virtue of any legislative power exercised by the Commis-sioners, but by virtue of the act of Con-gress itself, and the happening of the event gress itself, and the happening of the event which was to make it operative. And furthermore, a dog is not property except by virtue of said act, and anyone buying or owning a dog subsequent to the passage of the said act, must be presumed to do so with full knowledge that he could only have a qualified property in the same. "While Congress is charged with the duty of exercising exclusive legislative powers in the District, it has been held by the courts that such provision of the Constitution means exclusive of the legislative power of any State. Whatever legislation, if any, can be intrusted by Congress to its subordinate officers of agerts with respect to purely municipal matters, will continue to be the exercise of exclusive legislative power so far as regards the will continue to be the exercise of exclusive legislative power so far as regards the States and is not prehibited by the Constitution. In other words, Congress may create a municipal corporation such as the District of Columbia now is and assign to its executive officers certain of the duties that are imposed upon the central legislative body. It can undoubtedly authorize Commissioners to make such orders may be necessary for police regula-

"The particular regulation now complained of and which is attacked in the argument of counsel for complainant is the Commissioners. It is true that the Commissioners have given notice to the com-munity that the contingency has occurred which Congress deemed necessary to put its act in force; but what was to be re-quired of the citizen in the event of that contingency happening is definitely pro-vided in the statute itself. The Supreme Court has held that it is competent for Congress to pass a law which shall not be operative in the event that a future con-tingency shall occur, such contingency to

"The bill does not undertake to state that the facts which were to make it the duty of the Commissioners to enforce the law, have not been shown, but it is claimed that the order or proclamation is illegal because it is the exercise of legislative power which Congress could not delegate.

are alive and up-to-date. Old-fogyism and stagnation are mental death. Nations, cities, and individuals that progress are not afraid to get out of the beaten path. The aggressive, earnest, intelligent man or woman is not bound by codes or dogmas. They think for themselves, and humanity benefits thereby. As a class, the medical profession is clannish. The old school smacks of decay. Bleeding and blistering died hard, but died nevertneless, while homeopathy continues to progress. The great Pasteur was not a physician, yet he blazed a pathway which thousands now gladly follow. A few bright, active, progressive physicians, who will not be bound by precedent, and who have the courage of their convictions, are doing a great work for the profession as a whole. They believe that no man or school has absorbed all the medical knowledge obtainable, and when a scientific discovery is made that revolutionizes a pet theory for the treatment of disease, are willing to give it a fair trial and abide by the results if favorable. Such a physician is Dr. L. M. Lander, of Chicago. Read and weigh the honest words of this noted specialist:

"Several times during the past few years I have observed the effects of Warner's Safe Cure in cases of Kidney Trouble. I found that the action of the medicine was highly curative in effect, and that most desirable results followed its faithful use. "I believe it to be a very fine remedy for Kidney disorders. "DR. L.
